

PROOF THAT MORGELLON'S DISEASE IS NOT A DELUSION AND THAT SUCH PARASITES/SUBSTANCES DO EXIST

By Ricardo Beas, 11/19/2017 revision

According to the Mayo Clinic:

(<http://www.mayoclinic.org/MORGELLONS-DISEASE/ART-20044996>)

"Morgellons disease is an uncommon, unexplained skin disorder characterized by sores, crawling sensations on and under the skin, and fiber-like filaments emerging from the sores. It's not certain what these strings are. Some say they are wisps of cotton thread, probably coming from clothing or bandages ..."

"Researchers with the Centers for Disease Control note that the signs and symptoms of Morgellons disease are very similar to those of a mental illness involving false beliefs about infestation by parasites (delusional parasitosis) ..."

"A cluster of cases occurred in California, which prompted the CDC to conduct a research study to determine if the cases were somehow related. Another study conducted in London reviewed five years of cases, from 2003 to 2008, and found 18 patients with a diagnosis of unexplained dermopathy or Morgellons. Of these, 83 percent were middle-aged women and 69 percent were white."

On or around April 2013, a friend of mine visited me and told me that he had parasites throughout his body that were visible right under his skin. He said he went to a couple of hospitals and was told he was delusional. He said he could feel them move and showed me these grayish-black lines in his arms and legs. I told him about MMS/CDS and he started using CDS that day. Several days later he came over and showed me the parasites exiting wounds all over his body and moving under his skin. He cured himself in less than a month. Chlorine Dioxide Solution (CDS) and MMS are now banned by the FDA for any medical use and its sale is prosecuted in the US.

We took the pictures below that day and he supplied more later. All pictures have been distributed to multiple parties and the specimens have been secured and distributed as well to ensure they are available if required for investigation. No live samples exist, so there is no threat of infection/contamination. Here are the photos. Caution: they will be disgusting!

Someone needs to investigate this government/medical cover-up! Were these parasites also clandestinely and aerially sprayed upon the unknowing population of Northern California, similar to what was exposed by Leonard A. Cole in his book "Clouds of Secrecy: The Army's Germ Warfare Tests Over Populated Areas," which exposes the confirmed tests by the military which consisted of "generating bacterial aerosols from a ship located at various distances offshore."
