

I SPOKE WITH DR. STANLEY PLOTKIN ON THE PHONE TODAY 12/13/2022 (I got his number from a FOIA request release)

I told Plotkin who I was, that I was a pastor of a church, and that I did research on vaccines, including the COVID-19 vaccines. Here are my comments/questions and his responses, to the best of my recollection, notes, and typing speed:

R: I told him that Cardiologist Dr. Peter McCullough says that mRNA can be spread by people who received COVID-19 vaccines to other people that are not vaccinated, through close contact such as kissing, sexual contact and breast milk, and that in autopsies, the spike protein is found in the heart and brain and asked if he agreed.

P: He said that McCullough should stick to his heart and not make statements on subjects he knows nothing about and said that he did not agree with anything I quoted.

R: I asked if he believed that the COVID-19 vaccines were safe to use.

P: He said that like all vaccines and medicines, they have side effects that are rare. He mentioned that adenovirus vaccines can cause thrombosis (RB Note: Thrombosis occurs when blood clots block veins or arteries. Symptoms include pain and swelling in one leg, chest pain, or numbness on one side of the body. Complications of thrombosis can be life-threatening, such as a stroke or heart attack), but that it is rare.

He continued stating that the messenger RNA vaccines can cause significant seizures and other reactions, but that as far as fatal or important complications, they were also rare, but that there was no scientific data that confirmed McCullough's statements.

R: I mentioned the many videos that were published on the net once the rollout of the COVID-19 vaccines started, showing serious injury and death shortly after vaccination.

P: His response: If you give water to a million people, some of them will die in the next few days. (RB Note: Like Sen. Richard Pan, trying to compare water with vaccines). He said that what was needed was statistical analysis and autopsies, and that one cannot base statements simply on uncontrolled observations.

R: I mentioned the Pfizer COVID-19 vaccine trials documents that were just released and that in one of the earlier papers they had a 9-page listing of injuries caused by the vaccines. I asked him if he still claimed that these injuries were not related to the vaccines.

P: He said that every manufacturer must report things that happen in trials, but that what was necessary, was to compare the data after vaccination with the data after placebo. He said we had to take the quantitatively view of things, compare reactions with what would happen if you don't take the vaccines, if you get the disease, not just look at a report.

R: I asked if he thought that the COVID-19 vaccine was causing myocarditis as being reported all over the world.

P: He said, yes, that there was an incidence in myocarditis reported in scientific literature, but that fortunately most of such cases get resolved - and people no longer have myocarditis.

R: I mentioned the VAERS death chart that shows that there have been much more deaths reported for COVID-19 vaccines since their roll out than from all the other vaccines in the years before it.

P: He said that the CDC is tasked with doing analysis of vaccine safety data, as well as other, and that if you read their data, they do not confirm reactions occurring with vaccination that one would expect in any population. He said that you must have some sophistication about numbers before you can draw conclusions. He said he understood my concerns but said that I should read what is published by the CDC before I draw any conclusions.

R: I thank him, and told him that I did have the opportunity to see his full deposition with Aaron Siri, and that I had to be honest, that it seemed to me that he was trying to avoid answering many of the questions, and that he did agree that the vaccines in the CDC childhood vaccination schedule had not been tested with actual true placebos, and that the idea of not using placebos in vaccine X because it was unethical to leave anyone without it, that in the supposed placebo groups they used other vaccines, therefore, they were not given vaccine X, thus that the “unethical” claim was no excuse for not using true saline placebos.

I told him that I hoped that one day he would come out and be sincere with all the findings and information he has on the vaccines and really try to help humanity, because I did not believe that he has doing that at this point.

P: He said, well that is just too bad, but you know, vaccines have changed the world; people, especially children were dying in large numbers before the vaccines started, and that my ridiculous assertions have no scientific basis whatsoever, that they were inferences from numbers without intelligent analysis – and then he hanged up.

That Stanley thinks I'm his Oliver Hardy. We continue to hope that all these persons, including Anthony Fauci and Dorit Reiss, that are harming humanity by pushing the forced vaccination program, will pay, all according to their deeds, by judgment of the Almighty, including by serving jail and forfeiting all benefits and rewards they got for promoting such vaccines. Amen!
