MICROCEPHALY AND ZIKA

Source: New England Complex Systems Institute

Summary:

Brazil's microcephaly epidemic continues to pose a mystery -- if Zika is the culprit, why are there no similar epidemics in other countries also hit hard by the virus? In Brazil, the microcephaly rate soared with more than 1,500 confirmed cases. But in Colombia, a recent study of nearly 12,000 pregnant women infected with Zika found zero microcephaly cases. If Zika is to blame for microcephaly, where are the missing cases?

http://www.nature.com/news/proving-zika-link-to-birth-defects-poses-huge-challenge-1.19330?WT.mc_id=TWT_NatureNews

Corrected:

This story wrongly stated that at least seven countries have shown abnormal rates of microcephaly; this has happened only in Brazil. In addition, it implied that 404 confirmed cases of microcephaly in Brazil could be linked to Zika virus — only 17 of those 404 have been linked so far. The text has been updated to reflect this.

KING JAMES – FIRST VIRGINIA CHARTER

James was anointed King of Scots at the age of thirteen months at the Church of the Holy Rude, Stirling, by Adam Bothwell, Bishop of Orkney, on 29 July 1567.^[16] The sermon at the coronation was preached by John Knox. In accordance with the religious beliefs of most of the Scottish ruling class, James was brought up as a member of the Protestant Church of Scotland, the Kirk. The Privy Council selected George Buchanan, Peter Young, Adam Erskine (lay abbot of Cambuskenneth), and David Erskine (lay abbot of Dryburgh) as James's preceptors or tutors.^[17] As the young king's senior tutor, Buchanan subjected James to regular beatings but also instilled in him a lifelong passion for literature and learning.^[18] Buchanan sought to turn James into a God-fearing, Protestant king who accepted the limitations of monarchy, as outlined in his treatise De Jure Regni apud Scotos.

Henry VIII

Henry VIII started the process of creating the Church of England after his split with the Pope in the 1530s. Henry was anxious to ensure a male heir after his first wife, Catherine of Aragon, had borne him only a daughter. He wanted his marriage annulled in order to remarry.

At 8am on the 24th June, Henry and Catherine processed behind twenty-eight bishops from the Palace of Westminster to the Abbey for the coronation ceremony. The Archbishop of Canterbury, William Warham, presented Henry to his people who acclaimed him by calling out “Vivat, vivat rex!”, or “Long Live the King!”, four times. Henry then swore the nine oaths of kingship before Warham anointed him with holy oils and crowned him.

<https://www.theanneboleynfiles.com/the-coronation-of-king-henry-viii-and-queen-catherine/>

William Warham

In 1502, he was consecrated Bishop of London and became Keeper of the Great Seal, but his tenure of both offices was short, as in 1504, he became Lord Chancellor and Archbishop of Canterbury. In 1506, he became Chancellor of Oxford University, a role he held until his death. In 1509, he presided over the wedding of and then crowned Henry VIII and Catherine of Aragon.

History of the Church of England

The formal history of the Church of England is traditionally dated by the Church to the Gregorian mission to England by Saint Augustine of Canterbury in AD 597.[Ⓜ] As a result of Augustine's mission, and based on the tenets of Christianity, Christianity in England fell under control or authority of the Pope. This gave him the power to appoint bishops, preserve or change doctrine, and/or grant exceptions to standard doctrine.

The phrase "Church of England", however, frequently refers to the Church as of 1534, when it separated from the Roman Catholic Church and became one of many churches embracing the Protestant Reformation. King Henry VIII of England was less concerned with church doctrine, and more with practical matters. Desiring control over religious dictates in order to divorce Catherine of Aragon, he had himself (as opposed to the Pope) declared to be the supreme head of the Church in England. This resulted in a schism with the Papacy. Henry also used the schism as an excuse to seize the considerable land and wealth of many monasteries. As a result of this schism, many non-Anglicans consider that the Church of England only existed from the 16th century Protestant Reformation, and the phrase in common usage may frequently mean that.

First Virginia Charter

The First Charter of Virginia, also known as the Charter of 1606, is a document from King James I of England to the Virginia Company assigning land rights to colonists for the stated purpose of propagating the Christian religion.[Ⓜ] The land is described as coastal Virginia and islands near to the coast, but the surveying numbers correspond to modern day Florida to Maine. The patch of land itself would remain the property of the King, with the London Company and the Plymouth Company (the two divisions of the Virginia Company) as the King's tenants, and the settlers as subtenants. The colony's government at first consisted of a council residing in London. The document designated the London Company as responsible for financing the project, which included recruiting settlers and also provided for their transport and supplies.

Plymouth colony was founded by the Plymouth Company during the Great Puritan Migration. The Plymouth Company was a joint stock company founded in 1606 by King James I with the goal of establishing settlements along the east coast of North America.

The Bank of England began as a private bank that would act as a banker to the Government. It was primarily founded to fund the war effort against France. ... The original Royal Charter of 1694, signed by King William III, explained that the Bank was founded to 'promote the public Good and Benefit of our People'.

SUPREME COURT CASES – NATURAL PERSON – NO JURISDICTION

Hale v. Henkel - No. 340, Argued January 4, 5, 1906, Decided March 12, 1906

201 U.S. 43

Hale v. Henkel 201 U.S. 43 at 89 (1906) the Decision of the United States Supreme Court states: "The "individual" may stand upon "his Constitutional Rights" as a CITIZEN. He is entitled to carry on his "private" business in his own way. "His power to contract is unlimited." He owes no duty to the State or to his neighbors to divulge his business, or to open his doors to an investigation, so far as it may tend to incriminate him. He owes no duty to the State, since he receives nothing therefrom, beyond the protection of his life and property. "His rights" are such as "existed" by the Law of the Land (Common Law) "long antecedent" to the organization of the State", and can only be taken from him by "due process of law", and "in accordance with the Constitution." "He owes nothing" to the public so long as he does not trespass upon their rights."

Ice Cube Example:

Place 3 ice cubes (contrail) in a swimming pool (the vast space/stratosphere). Will the pool freeze or completely turn into ice cubes? Of course not, the ice cubes will be absorbed by the swimming pool liquid and will become invisible, contrary to what we see in the sky with so-called persistent contrails. This is what the chemtrail deniers/shills/trolls want people to believe, that it is possible for a contrail to react with air and completely blanket our sky in a haze - So ridiculous! Our biggest weapon is common sense.

From Report from Iron Mountain:

From the notorious 1967 book, Report From Iron Mountain on the Possibility and Desirability of Peace:

Page 66.7 (After discussing inventing a space alien attack):

"Nevertheless, an effective political substitute for war would required "alternate enemies" some of which might seem equally far fetched in the context of the current war system. IT MAY BE, FOR INSTANCE, THAT GROSS POLLUTION OF THE ENVIRONMENT CAN EVENTUALLY REPLACE THE POSSIBILITY OF MASS DESTRUCTION BY NUCLEAR WEAPONS AS THE PRINCIPAL APPARENT THREAT TO THE SURVIVAL OF THE SPECIES. Poisoning of the air, and of the principal sources of food and water supply, is already well advanced, and at first glance would seem promising in this respect; IT CONSTITUTES A THREAT THAT CAN BE DEALT WITH ONLY THROUGH SOCIAL ORGANIZATION AND POLITICAL POWER. But from present indications it will be a generation to a generation and a half before environmental pollution, however severe, will be sufficiently menacing, on a global scale, to offer a possible basis for a solution."
